HEAD TEACHER OF THE YEAR!

A CELEBRATION of exceptional North-East teachers took place last week honouring outstanding achievements and academic success across our region. The third annual Northern Echo Schools Awards, held at the Xcel Centre, in Newton Aycliffe, on Thursday saw ten awards dished out to deserving students, schools and staff from a pool of 26 finalists.

The Northern Echo's deputy editor, Chris Lloyd, compered the afternoon and the Head Teacher of The Year award went to our very own Head Teacher – Ms Davidson! What a tremendous achievement for her and how fantastic to see what is happening at Red Hall recognised at such an important event.

Ms Davidson believes that every child can succeed and she takes the time to get to know each and every child at Red Hall Primary School. Her drive and determination has seen the school change so much over the past two and a half years.

A special assembly was held at the school on Tuesday with staff, pupils and parents on hand to congratulate her. What a fantastic last two weeks it has been for Ms Davidson and Red Hall Primary School! Three year for Ms Davidson...

If you want to get involved more in the life of the school why not volunteer to support reading! Come and speak to Mrs Keeley in the office for more details. A BIG community event is being planned for after Easter where we will find out more about the changes going on in the Red Hall estate. Watch this space for more details!
